Swintt to be platinum sponsor of the CasinoBeats Summit 2019

The CasinoBeats Summit returns to London in September, backed by some of the biggest names in the online gaming industry, including Swintt as platinum sponsor.

CasinoBeats will welcome up to 1,000 senior industry executives to Olympia London on September 17-20, offering delegates four conference tracks and unrivalled networking opportunities with as many as 200 operators present.

David Flynn, CEO of Swintt, expressed that this agreement marks a natural progression: “I’m delighted that Swintt are the platinum sponsor for this year’s CasinoBeats conference in London. I moderated a panel session at last year’s event and Swintt also sponsored the recent event in Malta.

“During both of these experiences I could see that the CasinoBeats team were progressive and innovative in their approach to the sector, always looking for another angle. This approach matches Swintt’s philosophy.

“Many of the topics at this year’s conference are very prevalent to our approach, especially that of sustainability within the igaming space. I’m looking forward to this panel session, and revealing more details about how Swintt is looking to make a positive social difference via online gambling products.”

Operators attending and speaking at the Summit in 2019 will include Genting UK, Hard Rock, LeoVegas, Lottoland, Mansion, Olympic, Rank, Royal Panda, William Hill and Wishmaker, while a number of leading suppliers are also backing the event, with BetConstruct, Red Tiger Gaming, Playson and SG Digital all joining as sponsors.

In addition, Summit delegates gain access to Betting on Sports, which takes place at Olympia at the same time, alongside the PaymentExpert Forum and the DigitalMarketing Forum, delivered in conjunction with AffiliateINSIDER.

Stewart Darkin, managing director of CasinoBeats, said: “Swintt is one of those rising stars of the online gambling sector that everyone is watching and we’re absolutely thrilled that Swintt is the platinum sponsor of the CasinoBeats Summit this year.

“In addition, David will be talking about social responsibility – a topic close to his heart – on a key panel at the event’s Safer Gambling Forum. We look forward to welcoming David and the Swintt team to London.”
