Swintt appoints Tanya Axisa as Head of Account Management

Software developers bring in former Quickspin and BetSoft employee to add significant industry experience to major role

Specialists in highly localised online slots and live dealer games, Swintt, announced this month that they will be further strengthening their ranks with the addition of another key industry figure as Tanya Axisa joins as Head of Account Management.

Having previously worked as both an Account Manager and Senior Account Manager at BetSoft Games and Quickspin respectively, Axisa arrives with over seven years' experience for the role and around fifteen years in the gaming industry in general, making her the perfect fit for the position.

During her most recent stint with Swedish game studio Quickspin, Axisa was responsible for handling many tier 1 operators and was able to build up a strong network of industry connections, with both attributes certain to prove invaluable as she turns her attentions to driving Swintt to all-new heights.

In her role as Head of Account Management, Axisa will be responsible for providing both support and the strongest customer experience possible to Swintt's partners – and given the way the developers have been expanding this year, she'll have plenty of opportunities to showcase her skills.

Widely considered to be one of the rising stars of the online gaming industry, Swintt has quickly established a reputation for being leading provider of high-quality casino content. Their portfolio of services includes the development and supply of highly localised slots, immersive live dealer games and state-of-the-art engagement tools – all of which can be found across a wide range of platforms.

David Mann, Chief Commercial Officer at Swintt, said: “Tanya arrives at Swintt with a wealth of industry experience and I have no doubt she’ll prove to be an invaluable addition to our team.

“Having already managed and supported a number of big-name operators in her previous roles, Tanya has the perfect skill set to take our Account Management department to the next level. She understands not only the demands and responsibilities of the role, but also the wider culture and ambition here at Swintt, so I’m certain she’ll play a key role in helping us hit new heights in future.

“I’d like to officially welcome Tanya to the team and I look forward to working with her as we continue to establish ourselves as the go-to software provider for major operators across the globe.”

Tanya Axisa, Head of Account Management at Swintt said: “Swintt has already made its mark by becoming one of the most up-and-coming software suppliers in the industry and I’m thrilled to be given the opportunity to join such a talented and experienced team.

“I’m excited for the challenge ahead and believe that with the experience I’ve built up over the past seven years, I’ll really be able to contribute to driving the company forward as we look to achieve our goals of becoming a tier 1 game provider for casino platforms around the world.”
